- Dear Mr. Flythe:

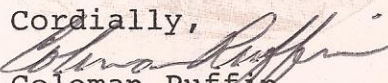

The Irish Setter and the wily game bird are once again seeing eye to eye! And the applause goes to the enthusiastic breeders and dyed-in-the-wool field trialers such as yourself for bringing the Irish Setter back to the hedgerows!

Cover will abound at the Second National Field Trial to be held on the English Setter Club of America grounds in Medford, New Jersey on November 2-6, 1975. The grounds are wide open for those long, reaching casts everyone loves . . . but with enough cover and wild game to make it a hunting dog's heaven. Your Turkey Talk dogs should be there to show what can be done with such a combination. Or, at least, be represented in the catalog for this national trial.

Take this opportunity to brag on your red dog's latest wins, that special new or expected litter, or your kennel. All the details for placing an ad in the Second National Field Trial catalog are on the enclosed Advertising Contract. We hope to hear from you-- ISCA needs your support and your participation to make this the memorable and exciting event we're all working for!

If you would like details on the trial, don't hesitate to contact me. The telephone number is 703-361-6624. And remember, advertising deadline is September 26.

Cordially,

Coleman Ruffin
National Advertising Chairman
